LANDSCAPE IRRIGATION BASICS EXPLAINED

Free class at the Glendale Main Library on May 21

GLENDALÉ, Ariz. – Take control of your irrigation system - before it takes control of your garden! In the desert, efficient watering is important to the health and vitality of your landscape. If you haven't inspected your irrigation system for leaks, now is the time! Still confused about that timer? Learn how to program it from an expert. Address all these common questions and get your plants ready for the summer heat by learning the ins and outs of your irrigation system at the city's "Irrigation Basics Explained" workshop from 10 a.m. to noon, Saturday, May 21, at the Glendale Main Library, 5959 W. Brown St.

An irrigation expert will outline the basic components of a typical irrigation system, how to make simple repairs, and why it's important to adjust your irrigation timer seasonally. Understanding how your irrigation system works can help you protect your landscape investment and save water.

If you would like a better handle on your landscaping system, don't miss this free class! To register, simply call 623-930-3760 or email greenliving@glendaleaz.com. You don't have to be a Glendale resident to attend. For those that can't attend, learn about watering times and amounts by ordering the "Landscape Watering by the Numbers" guide at 623-930-3553 or online at www.wateruseitwisely.com.

To help residents save water and energy, the Glendale Water Services Department will be offering more Green Living classes again this fall. For a complete listing of the Green Living class series, visit www.glendaleaz.com/green.
